The present annual appropriation in aid of state militia ($200,000) was fixed by act of 1808, and it is conceded by both branches of Congress that the proposed increase is justifiable, and nothing but mass of business on house calendars will prevent favorable consideration. A Machinist in a Tight Place.

The Belair Time says that Wm. Esynolits, a machinist at decil Paper Mills, recently got got into an ugly predicament. He went into what is known as the stuff chest—a large iron tank in which a set of arms revolve and keep the pulpagitated—to repair some part of it. While there the pulp was turned on and the machinery started by some one not knowing that any one was inside. To keep out of the way of the revolving arms Mr. Beynolds was obliged to walk round and round, the pulp meanwhile pouring down on him. He walked and cried out at the top of his voice for a long time and until he was nearly exhausted, but at last his cries were heard and the machinery stopped. At this time the pulp was waist deep, and Mr. Reynolds was covered with it from head to foot.

"That's all right," said the M. C. "Blaine, Arthur, Logan, and Edmunds each has his maximum strength now, and not enough to elect. Each will knife the other, and old Grant will slip in and carry off the prize."

THE NATIONAL THEATRE. "Desiree" met with, if it were possible, a more eathusiastic reception at the National Theatre last evening than on the occasion of its first presentation. Few actresses on the stage have in so brief a period schieved the success that Miss Evans now experiences, and when one considers the fact that her success has been acquired through individual merit alone, it strikes one as being all the greater. The company is very fine.

A young man was arrested on the Midland train at this city yesterday morning on a telegram received by the pelice from Gulpeper, on the charge of obtaining goods under false pretenses. He was taken to the station-house, when he was identified by several merchants as a Mr. Pugh and not the man whose name was given in the dispatch. He was discharged. At Fishtown yesterday 1,000 shad sold at $14@16 per hundred, and 100,000 herring sold at $5 per thousand.

A very pleasing concession, to soldiers of Hebrew faith, was made by the commandants of the French Army, as also in the regular army of England—and the Dutch Army. Durarmy of England—and the Duten army. During the recent Passover they were permitted to spend those precious and commemorative days with their families. This act reflects great credit on those who originated the generous thought, and brings to the heart of every faithful son of Israel a glow of joy.

A ROW IN A POOLROOM,

Which Results in the Proprietor Being Fined. The ression of the Police Court to-day was largely taken up with the trial of a serious afray in a "Swampoodle" poolroom. Thomas Fingler, proprietor of the saloon at the corper of North Capitol and G streets, and an Fingler, proprietor of the saloon at the corner of North Capitol and G streets, and another young man named John Murphy, were behind the bars, each charging the other with assault.

The case against Murphy was taken up first. Fingler testified that Murphy came into his saloon last Wednesday night and began to play pool, and witness objected to his playing and ordered him to put up the cue, which order he disregarded, and he (witness) attempted to take the cue from bim, when a souffie ensued, and Murphy struck him in the face while others held him. Murphy threw a pool-ball at witness, and was in the act of throwing another when witness drew his revolver and fired on him.

In the case against Fingler, Murphy admitted that he attempted to play a game of pool in defiance of the proprietor, who took the cue from him and banged him on the head with it. He then threw a pool ball at Fingler, who pulled a pistol and fired at witness. The builet struck a pool ball in witness showed the Court abrulee on his breast near the heart caused by the glancing builet.

A great many witnesses were examined, and the Court said the proprietor was not justified in the use of his pistol, and imposed a me of 8100 on him and dismissed Mur.

The motion for a new trial in the case of Joseph Gray, colored, convicted of an assault with intent to commit rape on Miss Annie Bloxton, was overculed by Judge Wylie this morning. When Gray was asked if he had anything to eay why sentence should not be passed, he an-swered that he was very sorry for the crime he was charged with committing. He did not remember doing it, and was very drunk that night. ludge Wylle, after referring to the enormity Judge Wylle, after referring to the enormity of the crime, said that the charge had been clearly proven, and it was swident that he was not too drunk to know what he was doing. He was audicially nober to overpower the woman, and would probably have succeeded in his purpose if she had not been able to sound an aiarm. He then sentenced Gray to five years in the Albany ponitonitary, remarking that it was the longest term the law allowed for an offense of this kind.
